"The 'Wikipedia' of Arabic calligraphy", Wereview, Gulf News

We are pleased to invite you to the launch of the world's first user-generated mobile museum of Arabic typography and calligraphy during the London Shubbak festival, on Saturday 29th June at Edge of Arabia, London.

Nuqta is the first ever app and website dedicated to mapping and collecting examples of Arabic calligraphy and typography, from around the world. It is created for the public, by the public and is free.

We hope you will be able to join us and participate in a highly artistic and creative atmosphere, where Stephen Stapleton, founder of Edge of Arabia and the Crossway Foundation, will introduce the event. Attendees will then be invited to enjoy a late afternoon of drinks and canapés while taking part in calligraphic activities with guest artists.
